

The XX Italian Meeting on Electromagnetics takes place in Padua on 15-18 September 2014. This edition has been organized by the Photonics and Electromagnetic Fields Group of the University of Padua.

The event represents an unique occasion for researchers working in the field and coming from different universities, research centers, and company/industries to meet and exchange their latest experiences and results.

The contributions submitted for presentation to this edition of the meeting have been grouped in 12 oral and 1 poster sessions. The scientific program foresees also an URSI special session, a session "InSIEm - giovani verso l'impresa" with the aim of encouraging encounters between the research world and the industrial one, and an initial plenary session, where eminent invited experts coming from international universities will present their research achievements in different fields in electromagnetics from microwaves to optics.

This meeting represents also a great opportunity for students to be exposed to the country-wide state of the art in electromagnetics. To stimulate an active participation of young researchers and PhD students three different prizes (Barzilai Prize, Latmiral Prize, and Sannino Prize) will be also awarded and announced at the closing session.
